

ANOTHER FIGHT AT CONVENTION

Reported That Lenroot Followers Will Endeavor To Control The Platform.

BITTER CONTEST IS ANTICIPATED

Meet In Madison On September 25--One Hundred And Thirty-Seven Have Votes--Janesville Has Two.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Sept. 11.—The first attempt of Senator La Follette to regain his footing in Wisconsin politics, which received a severe jar in the recent primary election by the nomination of Governor Davidson, will be made in the platform convention in Madison, September 25. This convention will be composed of the men nominated for state offices and the nominees for seats in the legislature, also the senators who hold over for another session. This gives the membership of the convention 137. Senator La Follette will attempt to secure the adoption of a platform not only containing substantial vindications of his course in state and national affairs, but advocating the enactment of state laws for which the senator and his defeated gubernatorial candidate argued in the recent primary campaign. While the vote at the primary election was decisively against Lenroot, there were gains made by the La Follette faction in the nominations made in various legislative districts, and of each candidate, whether for governor or member of the assembly, has one vote in the platform convention, it is easily possible that the La Follette people may control. However, the prestige of Governor Davidson and Chairman W. D. Connor, gained by their great victory at the primaries, is expected to give them much more power in the convention than is represented by their single votes. It is assumed that they will fight against any attempt of Senator La Follette to dominate, and it is assumed that this will be attempted by the senator. A spontaneous contest is certain. Upon the result depends the part to be assumed by the senator in the coming campaign, for he has already declared that he will remain silent on the result of the primaries until after the platform is adopted. There is no possibility that the Davidson people will strive for a retrogressive or "stale" platform, but it must be of their writing and not dictated by Senator La Follette. Governor Davidson desires that it approve the accomplishment of the establishment of a railroad rate commission and other changes effected in the last three sessions of the legislature, also, for further perfecting this reform legislation; but the La Follette and Lenroot demand for a recall or "string on legislators" bill will be resisted to the utmost.

The city itself is well protected. General Montalvo said aggressive action was now to be begun against the rebels in Havana, Santa Clara and Pinar del Rio provinces.

HISTORIC OLD FLAG STAFF IN SPLINTERS

Hundred-and-Fifteen-Foot Staff at North-Western Roundhouse Struck by Lightning.
One of the heaviest bolts of lightning of yesterday morning's electrical storm struck the immense flagpole at the Chicago & North-Western roundhouse and splintered it into thousands of pieces. It was completely demolished and shattered portions were scattered for a hundred feet or more in every direction, some going over the roundhouse and into the cinder pit fifty feet beyond. Many employees in the building were shocked, and Wiper Hannigan was thrown to his knees. The electricity communicated to a steel wrench in the hands of Martin McDermott and twisted it from his grasp. No one was seriously injured, but had not the flagpole received the bolt no doubt the chimney of the office would have been struck and damage more serious done. The pole was one of the highest in southern Wisconsin, being a hundred and fifteen feet in length and standing entirely above the ground, being built on a foundation of timbers and concrete. The staff was of cedar and brought down from the forests of the northern part of the state, being carried on three flatcars. It was put up in 1898 to replace a steel pole blown down by a heavy wind. The first flag was raised on it in the presence of several thousand people and E. G. Harlow, Captain during the civil war and a former master mechanic at the roundhouse, gave the address on behalf of the employees at whose expense the pole was purchased and put up. The pole will not be replaced immediately. When it becomes certain how the roundhouse and shops will be affected by the new yards and shops some move will be made.

The young people were not however stopped and proceeded to Dubuque, Iowa, where the necessary permit was secured and the marriage ceremony performed. Mr. and Mrs. Horton then went to Chicago and after a few days' visit there returned to Janesville last evening to go to housekeeping at 11 North Main street. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Hartford, Conn., Sept. 11.—The democratic state convention met today and organized Mayor William E. Thoms of Waterbury presiding. Tomorrow the convention will name a slate ticket to be voted for in November. "What has been known as the 'radical' element of the party of late years is most in evidence at the convention and probably will have things pretty much its own way, the old-line democrats manifesting little or no desire to interfere. If present plans go through the candidate for governor probably will be Mayor Charles F. Thayer of Norwich. Mayor Thayer is a country lawyer who has tried for the gubernatorial nomination several times before. Since he became mayor of Norwich he has won favor among the laboring classes by his radical propaganda for municipal ownership. The resolutions of the convention will express the sentiment of Connecticut democrats in favor of Bryan.

John H. Roberts Answered Summons in Chicago Yesterday—Funeral Here Tomorrow.

After suffering from impaired health for several weeks, John H.
Roberts, a resident of Janesville for three score years, passed away at the Hahnenkamp hospital, Chicago, yesterday. For several weeks he has been confined to the home of his sister, Mrs. Sarah Jackson, on South Franklin street and though everything was done for him he continued to grow worse and even hospital care and treatment did not save his life. Mr.
Roberts was born in Utica, N. Y., in January, 1847, and when an infant in arms he came to this city with his parents. He was well known and many will mourn his demise, having been a man of high and noble character and always pleasant. Six sisters survive—Mrs. Sarah Jackson and Mrs. Margaret Allen of this city; Mrs.
Kate L. Spenhouse, Chicago; Mrs.
Mary Wilde, Sheffield, England; Mrs.
James Hickey, North Bend, Oklahoma;
and Mrs. Wm. Nowers of Atkinson,

Suit—E. J. Hämmerlin Coaching.

ward the initial football practice of the season was held yesterday afternoon.
Eleven aspirants for places on the first team were out in suits and went through a few maneuvers under the new rules. No regular work was given by Coach Hämmerlin, the weather being too warm and not enough players being on the field. However, the number will double as soon as the temperature makes football agreeable. Those that were out for practice were: Temporary Captain Thomas Cassidy, Langdon, Baker, Yeomans, Woodruff, Burgess, Strang, Poeniche,

WEST SIDE TO OPEN
AS A SKATING RINK

Season Will Commence About October 15—Manager Connor Is Already Making Preparations.

About October 15 the West Side amusement place will be opened as a roller skating rink and it will probably not be converted into a vaudeville theatre until next spring. Manager Connors already has several men at work making needed improvements and getting the floor in shape.
There is every indication that the roller skating craze will last through another season and if it does a rink is likely to prove a much more profitable enterprise than a vaudeville theatre.

S. B. HEDDLES NUMBERED

72 Acres of Tobacco Under Cul-

Besides being one of the prominent leaf dealers of this section, S. B. Hed-dles is also numbered among the big

Beer is a Temperance Drink

Statistics Will Show that Its Increasing Sales Bring a Corresponding Decrease in Drunkennes.

To show the effect of beer drinking on the health, Dr. P. Bauer, of Berlin, a distinguished German scientist and professor, makes a report on the health of the 75 employees of a German brewery. This report is of especial interest just at this time because of the increasing popularity of beer in the United States, as shown by the recent report of the commissioner of internal revenue that during the past year the people of the United States drank 100,000,000 more gallons of beer than during any other year in the history of the nation, and there is less intemperance than ever before.

In speaking of the results of his investigation, Dr. Bauer says:
"Of the seventy-five employees, each of whom drinks over a gallon of beer daily, 56 have stood the rigid physical examination for enrollment in the German army and are soldiers; of the remaining eighteen, eleven are minor, three were found too small in stature and four were rejected for defects suffered by accident."

Leading physicians have said there is no doubt whatever of the healthfulness of good beer, and most of them recommend Pabst Blue Ribbon. Barley malt, the soul of beer, gives it certain food value, and the small percentage of alcohol, only 3 1/2 per cent, in Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer, is an aid to digestion.

In the brewing of beer, the richer the malt the more wholesome the beer. Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer is brewed only from Pabst exclusive eight-day malt, choicest imported hops and pure water. Pabst exclusive eight-day malt is grown from finest selected barley and grown slowly, without any rushed development, so that the malt retains all the food elements of the grain in pre-digested form. This is what makes Pab

Before The Footlights.

William H. Lorold, the favorite character comedian as the comic "Pore Amboche," will with the other members of the large cast, prove most notable.

A full and complete ballet of specially selected comedies, corymbes and ballets composed of young and pretty dancers have been engaged with Eleni Samboinchi, an exceedingly clever premiere dancer from the Theatre La Scala, Milan, who in con-the most pleasing impression where ever same appears.

A conspicuous member of the company is Norman Halverson, an Albin and talented singer. Mr. Halverson is the only Albin on the American stage. Miss Evelyn Garner, a leading soprano, enjoys great popularity as a ballet dancer; good wardrobe, talent and winning appearance have made her a great favorite with the public. Another member of the program, which by the way contains ten members is a comedy sketch entitled "The New Doctor," same is crowded with original comical situations.

Of special interest to those who enjoy good and original jokes will be the monologue entitled "A Queer World," in which W. Brown, a widely known blackface comedian, will make his appearance. Mr. Brown is known to be a remarkably funny man from start to finish. Three thousand feet of motion pictures will be the closing feature of the program. It is well worth to be mentioned that the complete exhibition of the San Francisco earthquake and fire motion pictures and stereoscopic views will present the destruction of San Francisco in such a realistic manner that for the time being one really imagines himself to be an actual visitor of the scene.

High class illustrated songs, with magnificent views and posings are rendered by a young baritone. These songs and illustrations are worthy of comment. It is safe to say that none need feel at the close of the performance that they have not spent an evening which for amusement, free from anything obnoxious, could hardly be surpassed.

SCENE FROM "THE GREATER LOVE," THE NEW YORK SUCCESS of Miss Flora Browning, a very clever known player. An orchestra of fifteen besides eight operatic soloists are carried by the company who render during the performance selections from the works of the "Tone King." The play is staged in that careful and painstaking manner that was so evident in "The Midway of the Box" and "The Prince of the Box" those well known successes of Walter N. Lawrence.

Good Blood
Good blood, good health; bad blood, bad health; there you have it. Why not help nature just a little and change the bad to the good? Bad blood to good blood; poor blood to rich blood! La Follette remained silent. No word was given the public of his intentions until the startling announcement that he would make peace with Davidson and his followers if he (La Follette) could dictate the platform that Davidson and Connor and the rest of them were to stand on. Less than a week after a bitter renunciation from his dear people the offer of terms is made. If such a thing were possible, if La Follette were able to dictate the platform, to the exclusion of every interest but his own aggrandizement, the election of the democratic ticket would be assured. Perhaps that is what the little gentleman wants though?

The Milwaukee Journal is a petty brawler. During the campaign it tickled the Lenroot people on the back by startling editorials and then repudiated them. Then it patted Davidson on the back and then kicked him out, and now they are very busy jumping on everybody for everything that they can think of. They are never happy unless stirring up trouble of some kind.

The Czar has spoken. All ye varlets in the outer chamber keep quiet. Listen to the words that fall from the herald who brings ye greeting. Bow down lowly to the floor. Let your heads touch the pavement while the sacred announcement is read. Smile not nor do ye grin on pain of death.

How would Coroner suit William Bates of Beloit? He has the hat and the ministerial appearance and the title would not be inappropriate. Then too, he received fourteen votes for nomination and he may be on the ticket.

The Milwaukee Free Press says there are defects in the primary law. The only defects that can be found by the naked eye is that it did not work as the Free Press and its sponsors wanted it to. McGovern was lost in the shuffle.

There is but small doubt that there are lots of people who voted last Tuesday, a week, who would be glad to vote again now with more understanding of who they were voting for.

Roger Sullivan says Bryan is in politics for what there is in it for him. There are lots of people in Wisconsin who know a man who is in the same boat also.

Maine has gone republican. Maine has gone dry. Mr. Gompers has been defeated and the democrats find small comfort in the results of the pivot state of politics.

With Bryan and Folk talking for the democrats and Spooner and others for the republican ticket the fun will be lively in Wisconsin this fall after all.

In the second assembly district of Rock county old Pliny Norcross again seeks the republican votes without any opposition of organized sort.

Assemblyman Baker won out in the first assembly district by a narrow margin, but a few votes were enough and as good as five hundred.

Sugar beets in Wisconsin are fast becoming so staple a crop that they are as essential to the farms' prosperity as tobacco was and is.

The ultimatum has gone forth. Bob says what Bob will do if the people will do as Bob wants them to do for Bob. Bah.

Wisconsin has a state fair this year that does credit to the state and to the men who are running it.

PRESS COMMENT.

Why he is Silent.

Sheboygan Journal: Senator La Follette has not yet congratulated Gov. Davidson. His throat is still too dry.

Bryan's Courage.

Kansas City Times: He has always had the courage of his blunders.

Rude Fling at Oshkosh Man.

Milwaukee Journal: John Strange is sufficiently emerged so he will not need any extra boards on his damn for some time.

Skool!

San Prairie Countryman: Davidson, Dahl, Fjeldstad, Kittleson, Severson! Notify King Haakon!

Ingratitude of a State.

Chicago News: Wisconsin was fully aware, too, that La Follette fought, bled and almost died to give it that primary law.

Battling Nelson Forsaken.

Chicago Record-Herald: Fugilist Nelson's sweetheart has forsaken him because he got whipped. Cupid never did have much use for a loser.

Sounds Like Chicago Chronicle.

Chicago Tribune: "Untruthful, insincere, and a mountebank," is not really actionable, comes pretty near being, these majesty, does it not, Mr. Bryan?

Madison in It, As Usual.

Exchange: Madison gets three nominees: Gilbert, Aylward and Purcell. Well, the capital and university city ought to be well represented.

Bound to Put on Airs.

Rockford Register-Gazette: A New York newspaper man is going to marry Miss Chandler, heiress to millions. After they are married he will be a journalist.

That's the Right Dope.

Madison Journal: There are 500,000 voters in the state. Let's see. That means a vote of about 350,000 in November with a republican majority of about 100,000.

Not to be Expected. Milwaukee Sentinel: And then again a congratulatory message from La Follette to Davidson might savor of an apology, and that would go against the La Follette grain.

"All Out for Pumpkin Show!" Madison Democrat: Now that the primaries are over, we may turn attention to the great biennial event of September—the county fair. All out for the pumpkin show!

Let Us Have Peace. Stoughton Hub: Why isn't this a good time for a family reunion? Let the Wisconsin-republican brethren get together and quit their factional wrangling. Why not?

Aye, There's the Rub. Madison Journal: We forget Ephraim Eaton: The prophets have got a good man up for governor. Can't we signify our approval of you, Ephraim, without voting for you?

In a Corner—by Himself. Oshkosh Northwestern: Senator La Follette is evidently still thinking it over. And after all it is a good thing to occasionally put some men in a corner where they are forced to sit down by themselves and have a good think.

Studying the Ropes. El Paso Herald: Pittsburg story makers are taking a noticeable interest in the fight over duties in Manila hemp rope, though why they should is still a mystery—nobody suspects.

As to Kicking the Pet Dog. Milwaukee Sentinel: Apropos of the working of our primary election law, the New York World observes that "Senator La Follette must feel like a man who has been bitten by his own pet dog." Well, he oughtn't to have kicked the dog.

In an Ironical Vein? Chicago Chronicle: Senator La Follette takes his medicine like a little man and a good majority bows to the will of the majority. Bully for Bob! We had an idea all along that he would prefer the comfort of the party camp to a cold and dismal bivouac outside the breastworks.

Saved by Celluloid Collar. Mithall (Ok.) Enterprise: Colonel W. B. Wicker was sporting a sore Adam's apple the first of this week. He had loaded a calf into a wagon, whereupon the calf kicked out, and caught Bill in the neck with what came near being a knockout blow. A heavy celluloid collar no doubt, did much to deaden the blow. The collar was torn off of the buttons.

Somewhere—Always! Milwaukee Free Press: Doukhobers is the name of a "religious" set in Canada, the members of which organize nude processions about the streets of the towns. When placed under arrest they refuse to eat, and the authorities tie them to their backs to the floors and pump nourishment into them. They are always prosecuting saints somewhere.

Amusing Result of a Test. El Paso Herald: One of the papers made the experiment of printing an entire page in "Rooseveltian" spelling, and, except for "thin" and "ther" no body noticed the difference. In fact indignant subscribers wrote in asking why it hadn't gone the entire porker instead of merely singling out those two words. The other 238 words were so entirely familiar that they escaped notice.

Benefits of School Athletics. Brooklyn Eagle: It is claimed by those who are in a position to know that the habits and character of present-day students as well as the general tone of morals is better than it was thirty years ago, and it is believed that this is largely due not so much to an increase of piety upon the part of instructors or teachers as to the athletic tendency of the age. The ball games—football especially—enable a boy to throw in a natural legitimate way much of the force and boy nature that would otherwise result in unmanly ways. It is apparent that not only in the institutions of higher learning but also in elementary and secondary schools an athletic training is of vital importance in the course. To succeed in getting the educative, recreative and hygienic effects of athletic practice without its evils should be the endeavor of every college, university and school.

May Learn Lesson—Will He?

Whitewater Register: Senator La Follette is too bright a man not to recognize in the result of the election the fact that he no longer holds Wisconsin in the hollow of his hand. He had judged from past successes that he could accomplish anything which he chose with "his people," but he has suffered a very rude awakening. Every county in which he spoke the last three weeks gave its vote against his candidate and against the things which he asked for. In all political history we can recall no such overwhelming rebuke to a political leader. But this does not necessarily mean the end of Senator La Follette's career; it may be turned to great advantage by him if he will recognize the fact which Abraham Lincoln said without the hard experience of humiliating defeat, namely, that "no one man is wiser than all men," and takes his place with the people as one of them rather than to assume arbitrarily the position of leader and dictator.

The Diamond Cutter's Snore.

Whitewater Register: The highest trade union in this country is that of the diamond cutters. There are something less than 250 of them altogether and they form a branch of the central union at Amsterdam. An expert diamond cutter is paid by the week and receives $125 for his six days' work. The lowest wages are $35 a week. The setters, who place the uncut diamond in cement to be cut, make $60 a week. They work when they like and can enforce idleness on the cutters when they feel so disposed. In one diamond cutting factory in this city, the workmen announced their intention to take a week's holiday and did so, taking another week after a few days' resumption of work. The employers are, absolutely helpless and nothing but the high price created by the artificial scarcity of diamond enables them to carry on business at all.

FOOTVILLE.

Footville, Sept. 10.—The hot weather is ripening the crop fast. There is the largest crop that has been raised in this part of the county in years. The leaf growers have their crops mostly in the shed.

There will be a rousing game of ball here next Saturday afternoon between Edgerton and Footville teams. It is to decide a tie. There will be a hot game as they both play fast ball.

The Oxfordville and Footville cricket bands have consolidated. There are now thirty pieces in the new organization. The band as it now stands is under the leadership of Mr. E. Parnley. The community can look for a rousing good band as Mr. Parnley certainly is an artist with the horn. Mr. I. C. Fisher, the nominee for sheriff on the republican ticket, was a pleasant caller in our burg last Sunday.

QUESTION RAISED REGARDING TRACK

TALK OF PUTTING TRACKS ON RIVER ST. AGAIN DISCUSSED.

LETTERS TO THE PUBLIC

Public Meeting to Prevent Such a Thing is Suggested—Talk to Public.

Whether the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad shall again lay its tracks on River street after having been ordered to take them up and having complied with the order, is a question for property-owners to decide. The announcement made some days ago regarding the removal of the track and now the news that a compromise has been reached and they are going down again has raised a storm of protest by property-owners. The Gazette has its own opinion regarding the matter, but it is up to the property-holders throughout the city to decide the question themselves. Following are two communications which should be read carefully. A mass meeting has been suggested to fully discuss the question and perhaps it is a good suggestion to follow.

Asks Questions
To The Editor: The council has ordered the St. Paul tracks on River street taken up on the recommendation of the chief of the fire department. Tracks were taken up. Now they are to be put down again. A compromise, it is said, has been reached. Who has the right to make that compromise—the fire chief? The ward alderman? The mayor, or who? Let us have a mass meeting to discuss this question. It is of importance to every property-holder in the city.
PAX VOBISCU.

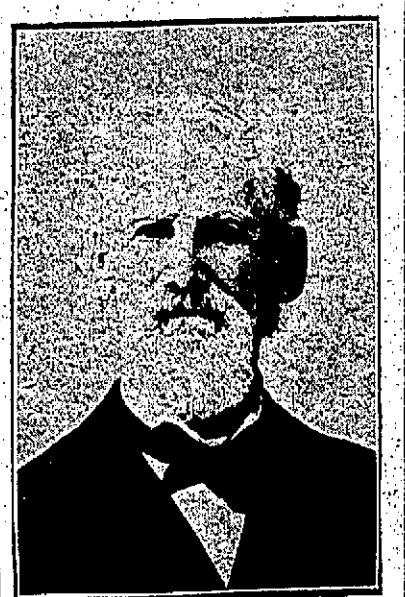

Some Facts
To the Editor: The common council at its last meeting ordered the St. Paul railway to remove its tracks from the front of the west side engine house, or the city would tear it up. The railroad complied with the order, but now we hear that by some arrangement with certain city officials the track is to go back again. This is a menace to every dollar's worth of business and residence property in our city. With a freight car on the track at the time of a fire alarm there will be great danger of colliding with the fire engine and trucks. Then what? When blocks are burned the honeyed promises of railway officials not to let cars stand on the track will not keep. The property-owners who are burned out. The track is to run cars on, and no one knows when an alarm of fire is to come. The fire department has complained ever since the St. Paul company unlawfully put their track in one Saturday night and Sunday. Within the last week the city succeeded in getting it out. Now it is to go back again. Why? It is said that the railway has made a "compromise" with certain officials who are sworn to protect our interests. Property-owners must prevent this use of the street at a point which means the possible destruction of hundreds of thousands of dollars. It is no answer to say that no accident has as yet occurred and that maybe none ever will. The brick pavement will be slippery with ice and snow and when a freight car has done the damage it will be too late to wake up to the folly of allowing any railroad company to use such a vitally necessary street and point for a switch yard. It doesn't seem possible that the common council will permit such trifling with fire.

GUY WHEELER FARM SOLD TO L. CRONIN

For a Consideration of $14,000—Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Coming Here to Reside.

Lawrence Cronin of this city has purchased the Guy Wheeler farm of 150 acres, located in the town of La Prairie about two miles southeast of Janesville, for the sum of $14,000.

Mr. Wheeler's title to the land is from the United States government and dates back to 1842, when 150 acres of it was entered by him. Later he added 50 acres, but subsequently sold a portion of the estate. He was 22 years of age when he came to Wisconsin with his father and has resided on the farm which he has just disposed of sixty-four years. His health does not permit him to longer bear the responsibilities and cares. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler will make their home in Janesville.

RULE TWELVE MAKES TROUBLE IN SOCIETY

New Booklet of the Sinissippi Golf Club Has a Rule That is Troublesome.

With the issuing of the new book of rules and list of members published by the Country and Sinissippi Golf clubs serious complications have arisen. One particular rule, No. 12, is a stumbling block for society people who have been in the habit of entertaining their friends at the clubhouse, regardless of the fact as to whether they are members or not. In speaking of the rule and its results one of the directors said this morning: "Recently, invitations for a party at the links were issued to which many friends of the clubhouse, who were not members of the club, were on the list. Rule 12 was forced to her attention and she was called to revise her list. It is an unpleasant accident and one which could be avoided if every member of the club would read the little booklet which was printed at the Gazette office and is now on sale." The rule in question is as follows: "No resident of Janesville not a member of the golf or country club can be invited to a private entertainment." Secretary Baker is anxious to secure a good list of both players and visitors for the Rockford trip. It is expected that a large delegation will go on Friday and a good team is desired. Rockford comes to Janesville next week.

STATEMENT IS MADE BY ALVA J. TRACY

Freepoint Man Who Indirectly Figured in Drowning Tragedy on Labor Day.

Alva J. Tracy, the man who rented of Frank Andrews the rowboat which figured in the drowning of fifteen-year-old Frank McLaughlin in the Rock River below the Pratt stone quarry on Labor Day, arrived in the city today and is stopping at Smith's hotel, where he will remain until tomorrow. Mr. Tracy is employed by the Guyer & Calkins firm, 94 Liberty street, Freeport, Ill. He went directly to the police station this morning and made a statement of what he knew of the tragedy to City Marshal Appleby.

The circumstances as narrated by him were as follows: He had gone upriver in the boat with a lady friend to spend the day. After pulling the boat partially up on shore he hid the oars in some bushes. Afterwards he swung a hammock up on the high bank. During a portion of the afternoon they amused themselves shooting at turtles with a 32-calibre revolver he had in his possession and later on they were enjoying a luncheon proceeding from the place down on the shore where he had moored the craft. By the time he had reached the scene the boat was quite a distance from the shore and he called to the boys to bring the boat back and when they only rowed the faster he fired a couple of shots up in the air. "I am positive that I aimed up in the air and not in their direction," in his statement.

Immediately thereafter the Freeport man says that he thought he heard another shot fired a short distance away. He started on a detour around the willows so as to get down stream and intercept the boat, and the craft and its occupants were hidden from his view until he reached the place where the Great boy had come ashore. Robert O'Hara, the third member of the trio, was lingering about the locality and the first question Tracy addressed to him was an inquiry as to who he had been shooting at. When the O'Hara boy told him that he thought one of the boys had been drowned, Tracy at once suspected that this was a subterfuge to enable him to escape—that the O'Hara had was really the second member of the boating party.

After swimming out, recovering the boat, and putting on his clothes again, Tracy went back after the lady friend, and the two started for home. On the way down stream they passed a launch and one of the passengers inquired whether or not they had heard of a boy being drowned. Tracy at once surmised that the O'Hara boy had run into town and circulated an idle tale and after answering in the negative thought no more of the incident. Soon after reaching the city he departed for Freeport and it was not until the following day that he received a newspaper clipping in the mail and learned of what had actually taken place.

"It was a terrible thing, I am very sorry—but I do not blame myself," he said this morning. "The boys had evidently missed the steamboat and were going to take my boat down to the city. They must have known that it had not been there long from the fresh tracks thereabouts and that they were leaving somebody in the lurch. Still, I had no intention of injuring them in any way. I wanted the boat back and I hoped by shooting in the air to frighten them so that they would come back, as I directed them to do. There came a bullet whizzing past the McLaughlin boy's head."

COLGROVE ACCEPTED BY THE DIRECTORS

Y. M. C. A. Management Met Last Evening to Take Action on Appointment of Physical Director.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Janesville Y. M. C. A., held at the building last evening, William H. Colgrove of Clyde, N. Y., but more recently of Hamilton, Canada, was appointed physical director to succeed J. A. Ward. Mr. Colgrove was accepted after a committee, named to find a new director, had picked him from among thirty-eight applicants whom they have been investigating during the past several weeks. Mr. Colgrove took temporary charge last week and has pleased all those who have met him. He now takes complete charge and it seems that he is fully qualified for the position. He is thoroughly a Y. M. C. A. man and a most eminent physical director. He has two years' practical experience as an assistant director at Geneva, New York, and as physical director at Dundas, Canada, and now comes here after two years in Prof. D. M. Barton's School of Physical Training at Hamilton, Canada. While there he studied under a trained physician as well as under Barton. Barton was introduced as a trainer fifteen years ago by the great Sandow. He personally recommends Colgrove, stating that the latter was in complete charge of his classes for two weeks while he himself was on his annual lecture tour. Mr. Colgrove is a young man, twenty-seven years of age, but capable of taking every phase of the work. He has commenced work with the A. and B. juniors and intermediates and will begin with the seniors and business men about October first. Among the new departments in prospect is a fencing class and a noon day business men's class. Mr. Colgrove is an expert fencer.

CHAPTER VII.

In that part of Africa which lies within touch of the equator life is essentially a struggle. There is hunger about, and where hunger is the emotions will be found also. Now, Jack Meredith was a past master in the conquest of these, and, as such, came to Victor Durnovo in the guise of a new creation. He had lived the latter and the larger part of his life among men who said, in action if not in words, I am hungry or I am thirsty. I want this, or I want that, and if you are not strong enough to keep it, I will take it from you.

"This man was different, and Victor Durnovo did not know, could not find out, what he wanted.

He had at first been inclined to laugh at him. What struck him most forcibly was Joseph, the servant. The idea of a man swaggering up an African river with a European manservant was so preposterous that it could only be met with ridicule; but the thing seemed so natural to Jack Meredith, he accepted the servitude of Joseph so much as a matter of course that after a time Durnovo accepted him also as part and parcel of Meredith.

Joseph took off his coat, turned up his sleeves and proceeded to cook such a dinner as Durnovo had not tasted for many months. There was wine also, and appeared a clear of such quality as appeared strongly to Durnovo's West Indian palate.

The night settled down over the land while they sat there, and before them the great yellow equatorial moon rose slowly over the trees. "With the darkness came a greater silence, for the myriad insect life was still."

"So," said Durnovo, returning to the subject which had never really left his thoughts, "you have come out here for pleasure?"

"Not exactly. I came chiefly to make money, partly to dispel some of the illusions of my youth, and I am getting on very well. Picture book illusions they were. The man who drew the pictures had never seen Africa."

The evening had turned out so very differently from what he had expected that Durnovo was a little carried off his equilibrium. Things were so sociable and pleasant in comparison with the habitual loneliness of his life. The fire crackled so cheerily, the moon shone down on the river so grandly, the subdued chatter of the boatman imparted such a feeling of safety and comfort to the scene, that he gave way to that impulse of expansiveness which ever lurks in West Indian blood.

"I say," he said, "when you told me that you wanted to make money, were you in earnest?"

"In the fondest earnest," replied Jack Meredith in the half-mocking tone which he never wholly learned to lay aside.

"Then I think I can put you in the way of it. Oh, I know it seems a bit premature; not known you long enough and all that. But in this country we don't hold much by the formalities. I like you. I liked the look of you when you got out of that boat so cool and self-possessed. You're the right sort, Mr. Meredith."

"Possibly for some things. For sitting about and smoking first class cigars and thinking second class thoughts I am exactly the right sort. But for making money, for hard work and steady work, I am afraid, Mr. Durnovo, that I am distinctly the wrong sort."

There was a little pause. Durnovo looked round as if to make sure that Joseph and the boatman were out of ear shot.

"Can you keep a secret?" he asked suddenly.

Jack Meredith turned and looked at the questioner with a smile. His hat had slipped to the back of his head, the light of the great yellow moon fell full upon his clean cut sphinxlike face. The eyes alone seemed living.

"Yes, I can do that."

"I can see you're a gentleman," Durnovo said. "I'll trust you. I want a man to join me in making a fortune. I have got my hand on it at last. But I'm afraid of this country. I'm getting shifty; look at that band. I've been looking for it too long. I take you into my confidence, the first evening, you'll think. But there are not many men like you in this country, and I'm distinctly afraid of dying. I want to get out of this for a bit, but I dare not leave until I set things going."

"Take your time," said Meredith, quietly and soothingly. "Light that cigar again and lie down. There is no hurry."

Durnovo obeyed him weekly.

"Tell me," he said, "have you ever heard of sinicue?"

"I cannot say that I have," replied Jack. "What is it for, brown boots or spasms?"

"It is a drug, the most expensive drug in the market. And they must have it, they cannot do without it. It is the leaf of a shrub, and your hatful is worth a thousand pounds."

"Where is it to be found?" asked Jack Meredith. "I should like some, in a sack."

"Ah, you may laugh now, but you won't when you hear all about it. The scientific chaps called it sinicue, because of an old African legend which, like all those things, has a grain of truth in it. The legend is that the monkeys first found out the properties of the leaf, and it is because they live on it that they are so strong."

Early New-England Books Rare. The recent discovery in England of a copy of the long lost Massachusetts laws of 1648; printed in Cambridge, and its sale to E. Dwight Church, of Brooklyn, for a price said to exceed $5,000, reminds the collectors of the interesting fact that the earliest works printed in New England are among the world's rarest books and are rapidly becoming as valuable as the earliest imprints of William Caxton, England's first printer.
